

To whom it may concern,

First off, thank you for taking the time to view my cover letter. I hope it's not too long of a read!

I'm going to be honest, there are smarter people out there. There will always be someone who is more clever, someone who might be a genius, and maybe that's who you're looking for. However, I believe I'm a good fit because I've become well-rounded due to my experience that hasn't always been technology-focused. I've been required to adapt and step out of my comfort zone, and as a result of that, I am a flexible learner and able to pick up any kind of tool or task with an open mind. My experience in the entrepreneurship and design fields has helped me develop empathy, giving me a significant advantage when working with clients and teammates alike.

I'm not looking for a stepping stone, but for a place that I can grow alongside, and to that end, I strive to be an investment instead of a cost.

In my free time, I enjoy doing anything that allows me to create worlds and tell stories, including game development, music production, digital art, and fashion. I also enjoy group activities, such as marching band and dance, as well as solo sports like boxing.

If I've caught your interest, please let me know. If I'm not the right fit, also please let me know quickly!

Thank you,
Ethan Chen
